

Sharon Gibson

Director, Healthcare Practice Internet Business Solutions Group

Gibson is a director in the Healthcare Practice of the Cisco Internet Business Solutions Group (IBSG). She counsels healthcare executives on how to use information technology to improve efficiency, effectiveness, competitive advantage, and patient satisfaction. She is currently spearheading IBSG's thought leadership efforts around "Connected Hospital," Cisco's vision for the hospital of the future.

Prior to joining Cisco, Gibson was president of EDS' e-solutions consulting practice. Her group worked with clients to align their technology and industry-specific business needs through business planning, e-strategy, transition and implementation management, digital learning, and process improvement consulting.

Before EDS, she was a healthcare and business management consultant with Booz Allen Hamilton. At Booz Allen, she assisted clients with business and strategic planning, organizational design, and restructuring, using the patient-focused care model and enterprise-level change management.

Gibson has more than 20 years of executive experience in the healthcare industry, working at private, for-profit hospitals; not-for-profit hospitals; government institutions; and academic medical centers. She was a senior vice-president with American Medical International before joining Booz Allen.

Gibson earned a master's degree from Johns Hopkins and a bachelor's degree from Wesleyan College. In 2002, she completed an executive development program at Indiana University.
